View From The Press Box

by George Oliver, Director of Publicity

Once again it is that time of year when there is a little bite in the air as the wind sweeps across College Hill Field, when the leaves display multi-colored faces to those who have time to look at such things, and paths are worn through the countryside, all of which lead to Cortland State—the dear old Alma Mater.

Alumni, welcome back. Everyone here from the most verdant Freshman to the stateliest Senior welcomes you. We hope that sometime before Sunday evening rolls around you can drop in and see us. How is it "out in the field"? Seems good to be earning "all that money" doesn't it? Give us a couple of years and we'll be right there with you.

The Eagles Arrive

Coach Bob Boozer's Brockport squad came in to town today, to attempt to outdo the Davismen. Although the Golden Eagles were drubbed by Alfred 50-0 in their opener and went on to drop their next two contests, they should not be underestimated. Brockport has a reputation for always being "up" for any game with the Dragons in any sport.

This year the Boozermen have the best backfield in the history of Brockport. Senior Lou Guerra will be calling the signals and handing off to halfbacks Jim Royton and Bob Berg and fullback "Dobbin" Ellis.

With this strong backfield going against the Davismen we are in for some good football this afternoon—so sit back, relax, and enjoy an "O. P."—they taste better. Remember—that's "O. P."—"Other People's!"

Some Can Play No More

The University of Kentucky is operating this year without the services of Allen Felch who, as a sophomore fullback, was U.K.'s leading ground gainer. Al was to get out of the Army last June 9 but, as misfortune would have it, he broke his neck while swimming the Sunday before the appointed day.

Quick action by Army doctors saved Felch's life. The fact that he was in the Army is the only bright spot in the story, for he can receive treatment, which in similar cases averages $45,000 a year, at government expense.

Bill Corum, noted sportscaster, has organized a committee to help raise funds for research by the National Paraplegia Foundation to aid other athletes who may be injured in the same way, but who don't have the government to fall back on.

The committee has as members such noted football people as Bert Bell, Charles Bidwell, Russell Bogda, Lou Little, Red Grange, Herman Hickman, Tommy Harmon, Frank Leahy, John Mara, and Art Rooney.

You will hear more about this latter on, but if you are asked to help give it serious consideration.

To the Present Time

Although it was a cloudy day, the sun was shining for the Red Dragons on September 24, as they took the measure of the favored University of Buffalo eleven 28-7. The Davismen scored once in the first quarter and twice in the second to lead 21-0 at the half. The Bulls retaliated with a T.D. in the third frame, but the Red and White matched it with one of their own in the last quarter to make the final score 28-7.

Fullback Don Guido, quarterback Bob DeRonda and ends Andy Donelli and Charlie Fox turned in stellar performances in that game. A strong line and fine running by the halfbacks added much depth to the Red Dragon attack.

The following Saturday night the Alfred University Saxons struggled to a 12 - 0 win over the Red Dragons at Merrill Field in Alfred. The first quarter was scoreless, but Alfred was able to push over the goal line for six before the half ended. The Saxons scored again in the third period, but once again failed to secure the extra point. Cortland threatened in the final quarter when Pete Palleschi carried the ball 57 yards from the Cortland 28 to the Alfred 15. There, however, the Saxon defense tightened and the Red Dragons stalled.

Cortland faced a strong Bloomsburg State squad in their first home game and met the challenge by defeating the Huskies 13-6. John Radziewicz, freshman fullback, scored on a 28 yard end run and Clarence Powell booted the extra point just before the half to put the Dragons ahead 7-0.

In the third quarter Bloomsburg scored when Mike Lashendock plunged through the left side of the Dragon line from the six. The try for the extra point was no good.

With minutes left in the game the Davismen culminated a downfield drive when Bob DeRonda passed to Clarence Powell in the end zone for the T. D. A pass attempt for the extra point was incomplete.

Last Friday night the Ithaca Bombers entertained the Red Dragons and fell before the mud-spattered onslaught of the Davismen 28-0. Clarence Powell and Al Emmi were the big guns in Cortland's first shut-out of the season, as they racked up 60 and 101 yards rushing and accounted for all the scoring.

Powell and Emmi each scored once in the first quarter and Powell went over again in the second and final periods.

After today's contest, the Chuggermen have two more games left in the season. Next week Hofstra invades College Hill Field for the final home game, and on the following Saturday the Dragons close the season at East Stroudsburg.

The Coaching Staff

C. Davis	E. Bosse	R. Weber	A. Watrell	R. Bub

Coach Carl "Chugger" Davis has held the reins as head football coach at Cortland State Teachers College for twenty-one years. His record up to this season has been close to the .650 percentage in the win column as his teams have been victorious in 76 games, while losing only 45 and tying 12. One of the outstanding records of college football was made by his 1932-1935 teams who tasted defeat only once. In 1948 his team lost only one contest. Chugger has been a consistent winner in baseball and his 1954 undefeated nine was only one of his year-in-and-year-out representative small college teams which have always been good. The basketball teams which he coached until 1950 played and defeated some of the outstanding small college teams in the East. Coach Davis graduated from Springfield (Mo.) College and did his graduate work at Springfield (Mass.) College. He was an outstanding performer in high school and college athletics.

Robert (Doc) Weber is working with the line for the fourth year. A graduate of the University of Iowa, Weber played football as an undergraduate and on service teams. He coached and taught in the public schools of Iowa and at the University of Iowa.

Ed Bosse, backfield coach, is no stranger to the football fans of Cortland. A 1951 graduate of Cortland State Teachers College, he turned in some fine football as a back for Sampson and for three years at Cortland. He also saw considerable service with the varsity basketball team. Since 1951 he has taught and coached at South Huntington High School on Long Island. His football and basketball teams have gained prominence and for two years his golf teams were county champions. Ed served on a destroyer during World War II.

Robert Bub, a senior at Cortland, is assisting as a student coach. He has played on Cortland's varsity football squads and was a member of the wrestling team in 1953.

A graduate of Syracuse University, Albert Watrel is starting his second season as coach of the junior varsity football squad. He is well qualified for this position in that he has played under such names in the coaching world as Biggie Munn, Floyd Schwartzwalder and Forest Evascheski and has had coaching experience at Syracuse University, Bolles Military School, Jacksonville, Fla., and Eastwood High School, Syracuse.

Also assisting as Student Coach this year is Bruce Allison, a Physical Education major from Penn Yan, New York. Bruce has eight years experience to aid him in his coaching endeavors, one of these as line coach for Camp Lejune High School.

The fact that Cortland fields seventeen competitive teams is sufficient testimony that we believe in intercollegiate athletics. We believe standards of sportsmanship on the playing fields of the colleges of our country make for even higher standards of American citizenship. Perhaps to spectators it is merely a game in which there is pleasure in watching, but to the State University Teachers College at Cortland, intercollegiate athletics are part of our curriculum.

Intercollegiate Athletics Observes NCAA'S

50th Anniversary

Intercollegiate Athletics, during the current college year, 1955-56, commemorates the golden jubilee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The universities and colleges of the nation take pleasure in observing their national organization's 50th anniversary because the development and progress of the NCAA is the story of intercollegiate athletics' own expansion and improvement.

Fifty years is a long time. In 1905, the key offense in college football was the flying wedge . . . organized track and field competition was just getting under way . . . the original peach basket goal was about to be replaced by the open metal hoop in basketball but the sport still was new and strange to most sections of the nation . . .

The NCAA evolved from a meeting of 13 colleges and universities called in 1905 to reorganize the game of intercollegiate football. (The rugged nature of the game was causing too many injuries and deaths.) A permanent organization was established, March 31, 1906.

Today, the NCAA is composed of more than 465 colleges and universities, athletic conferences and associations, devoted to the sound administration of intercollegiate athletics. Also today, the member institutions of the NCAA provide intercollegiate athletic competition for more than 130,000 students annually in more than 26 different sports. The men responsible for the coaching and administration of intercollegiate sports firmly believe that these competitive athletic programs are a vital part of the educational system which prepares our youth for future productive careers in society.

The universities and colleges of the nation have joined together in one Association—the NCAA—for purposes of athletic discussion, legislation and administration at the national level. The NCAA is solely and completely responsive to the will of its members as expressed by their governing boards and chief executive officers. The NCAA concerns itself with any phase of college athletics which spreads across regional lines and becomes national in character, and a majority of the member institutions concur that national action is needed.

These member institutions carry on many diversified activities through the NCAA. For example, they:

- establish and maintain athletic standards.
- formulate and publish the official playing rules for college sports.
- conduct National Collegiate Championship events in 13 sports.
- maintain the official national statistics and records of college sports.
- provide financial and other assistance to groups interested in the promotion and encouragement of intercollegiate and intramural athletics.
- conduct studies as a means of developing solutions to athletic problems; i.e., the recent surveys on television, post-season events, length and time of playing and practice seasons, admission taxes, college baseball, etc.
- participate in the U. S. Olympic and Pan American movements in matters of fund-raising, sports organization and the selection of coaches and athletes for United States teams.
- administer a group insurance program providing catastrophe medical coverage.
- maintain a large film library covering play in National Collegiate Championship events.

The development and expanded activities of the NCAA reflect the progress of intercollegiate athletics over the past half century. The NCAA and its member institutions, in the years ahead, will continue to make every effort to provide maximum opportunities for our youth to enjoy the experience of competitive athletics as an integrated part of their over-all college education.
